Legal Notice

Pursuant to the New Mexico Mining Act Rules at 19.10.5.507 NMAC Freeport-McMoRan Tyrone, Inc. has applied to the Mining and Minerals Division, New Mexico Energy, Minerals, and Natural Resources Department (MMD) for waiver of additional areas within the Tyrone Mine from the requirement to achieve a self-sustaining ecosystem as a result of reclamation. The waiver application will be processed as a revision to Mining Act Permit No. GR010RE, as revised or modified, originally approved July 10, 1996 ("Permit"). The Tyrone Mine is an open pit mine and solution extraction-electro winning copper production facility. Freeport-McMoRan Tyrone Inc. is the operator and is currently engaged in mining, leaching and copper recovery. An update of the closeout plan for the mine was submitted to MMD in April 2009 that indicated Freeport's intent to apply for a waiver of supplemental areas as resolution of plan issues progressed.

A copy of the application is available for viewing during normal business hours at:

New Mexico Energy, Minerals and Natural Resources Department
Mining and Minerals Division
1220 South St. Francis Drive
Santa Fe, New Mexico 87505

And also at:

Silver City Public Library
515 W. College Avenue
Silver City, New Mexico 88061

The application can also be viewed or downloaded from the New Mexico Energy, Minerals, and Natural Resources website at:

<http://www.emnrd.state.nm.us/MMD/MARP/permits/GR010RE.htm>

This application is available for public comments, objections and a public request for hearing as provided below.

Permittee and mailing address: Freeport-McMoRan Tyrone, Inc., P.O. Box 571, Tyrone, New Mexico 88065

Location of real property affected: The Tyrone Mine is located along the west side of Highway 90 approximately nine miles south of Silver City in Grant County. The land for which a waiver is requested is located within Township 19 South, Range 15 West, Sections 14, 15, and 22 through 27, New Mexico Principal Meridian and Baseline.

Type of surfaces subject to waiver application: Tyrone has requested a waiver for an additional 135 acres of open pit area and 462 acres of interior stockpile slopes. These are waste rock or spent ore slopes that are within the perimeter of the primary mining area that drain into an existing open pit. The acreage values provided are based on the projection of these surfaces to a horizontal plane.

Regulatory background: In 2004 Tyrone applied for and received a waiver from the requirement to achieve a self-sustaining ecosystem for 1216 acres of open-pit areas. In 2009 Tyrone submitted an updated closeout plan to MMD that proposed limited reclamation within the primary mining area where storm water runoff will drain by gravity into an existing pit. The bottom of the Main Pit at Tyrone is below the groundwater surface and the impacted runoff water and groundwater water captured and collected in the bottom of the pit is routinely pumped out and used in the copper recovery process. Tyrone has committed, as part of its closeout plan, to continue this pumping of impacted water after mining ceases and to treat the water to a quality that allows for future beneficial uses. Due to this physical arrangement, impacted storm water runoff from the surface of interior slopes and the pit bottom will be captured and treated. If the interior slopes were to be reclaimed, runoff from them would flow across un-reclaimed pit surfaces and become impacted runoff water as the primary purposes of reclaiming the slopes. The need to construct and operate systems to capture the unimpacted runoff from reclaimed interior slopes, drives up the relative unit cost of reclaiming interior slopes compared to exterior slopes where unimpacted runoff flows by gravity into local drainages and away from the perimeter of the mine. Achievement of a self-sustaining ecosystem after mining would not be the goal in the supplemental areas proposed for waiver; however safety measures such as fencing and berms would be implemented. The concept of not performing self-sustaining ecosystem reclamation within interior areas was introduced in the updated closeout plan and Tyrone indicated in the transmittal letter for the plan that this design would invoke the need to apply for additional waived areas. Approval of the proposed waiver modification would result in the exclusion of the 135 acres of open pit area and 462 acres of interior stockpile slopes from reclamation to the wildlife habitat post mining land use.

Tyrone has been engaged in the reclamation of mine disturbance since 2004 and has reclaimed approximately 3673 acres of land. Tyrone is currently reclaiming approximately 264 acres of disturbance located along the southern perimeter of the mine.

Name and address to submit written comments, objections or requests for public hearings: Written comments, objections or requests for a public hearing with regard to the application for waiver of additional areas within the mine shall be submitted to:

Bill Branchard, Director
Mining and Minerals Division
1220 South St. Francis Drive
Santa Fe, New Mexico 87505

A person with an interest that is or will be adversely affected by the proposed supplemental waiver may file written objections to the proposal with the Director at the above address and may request a public hearing. If a public hearing is held, a separate notice will be provided in accordance with 19.10.12.1210 NMAC.

Aviso Legal

Conforme a las Normas de la Ley de Minería de New Mexico en 19.10.5.507 NMAC que Freeport-McMoRan Tyrone, Inc. ha aplicado a la División de Minería y Metales, Departamento de Recursos Naturales, Minería y de Energía de New Mexico (MMD) para exención de las áreas adicionales dentro de la Mina de Tyrone del requisito de lograr un ecosistema autosostenible como resultado de la recuperación. La aplicación de la exención será procesada como una revisión al Permiso de la Ley de Minería n° GR010RE, según revisión o modificación, originalmente aprobada el 10 de julio de 1996 ("Permiso"). La Mina de Tyrone es una mina a cielo abierto y una instalación de producción de cobre de electro-obtención y extracción mediante soluciones. Freeport-McMoRan Tyrone Inc. es el operador y actualmente está relacionado con la minería, lixiviación y recuperación de cobre. Se presentó una actualización del plan de cierre para la mina a MMD en abril de 2009 que indicaba la intención de Freeport de aplicar una exención a las áreas complementarias como resolución de los asuntos del plan desarrollados.

Se encuentra disponible una copia para revisión durante el horario laboral normal en:

Departamento de Recursos Naturales, Metales y de Energía de New Mexico
División de Minería y Metales
1220 South St. Francis Drive
Santa Fe, New Mexico 87505

Y también en:

La aplicación también puede verse y descargarse de la página web de Recursos Naturales, Metales y de Energía de New Mexico:

<http://www.ernrd.state.nm.us/MMD/MARP/permits/GR010RE.htm>

Esta aplicación está disponible para comentarios públicos, objeciones o una solicitud pública de audiencias según el siguiente horario a continuación.

Período y dirección postal: Freeport-McMoRan Tyrone, Inc., P.O. Box 571, Tyrone, New Mexico 88065

Ubicación del bien inmueble afectado: La Mina de Tyrone está ubicada junto al lado oeste de Highway 90 aproximadamente nueve millas al sur de Silver City en Grant County. La tierra para la cual se solicita una exención está ubicada dentro de Township 19 South, Range 15 West, Secciones 14, 15 y 22 a 27, Meridiano Principal y Línea Base de New Mexico.

Tipo de superficies sujetas a la aplicación de la exención: Tyrone ha solicitado una exención para 135 acres adicionales de área a cielo abierto y 462 acres de pendientes de pilas de minerales en interiores. Estas son inclinaciones de roca estéril o mineral agotado que están dentro del perímetro del área minera principal que drena a un pozo abierto existente. Los valores del área en acres proporcionados se basan en la proyección de estas superficies a un plano horizontal.

Fondo regulador: En 2004, Tyrone solicitó y recibió una exención del requisito de lograr un ecosistema autosostenible después de la recuperación para 1,236 acres de área de minería a cielo abierto. En 2009, Tyrone presentó un plan de cierre actualizado a MMD que proponía limitar la recuperación dentro del área minera principal donde el vertido de agua de tormenta drenara por gravedad a un pozo existente. El fondo del Pozo Principal en Tyrone está por debajo de la superficie del agua subterránea y el escurrimiento de agua impactada y el agua subterránea capturada y recogida en el fondo del pozo es regularmente bombeada y utilizada en el proceso de recuperación del cobre. Tyrone se comprometió como parte de su plan de cierre, a continuar este bombeo hasta el final de la vida útil de la mina que la minería cese y a tratar el agua a una calidad que permita usos benéficos futuros. Debido a esta disposición física, el agua de tormenta afectada escurrida de la superficie de las inclinaciones interiores y las paredes de los pozos finalmente será capturada y tratada. Si las inclinaciones de interiores fueran recuperadas, el vertido no afectado de las mismas fluiría por las superficies de los pozos no recuperados y sería afectado, derrotando uno de los principales objetivos de recuperar las inclinaciones. La necesidad de construir y operar sistemas para capturar el vertido no impactado de inclinaciones interiores recuperadas, eleva el costo unitario relativo de la recuperación de inclinaciones exteriores en comparación con inclinaciones exteriores en las cuales el vertido no afectado fluye por la gravedad a drenajes locales y lejos del perímetro de la mina. El logro de un ecosistema autosostenible dentro de la minería no sería el objetivo en las áreas complementarias propuestas para el cierre. En su lugar, se implementarían medidas de seguridad tales como cercados, implementación de 200' protectores. El concepto de no realizar una recuperación del ecosistema autosostenible dentro de las áreas interiores fue introducido en el plan de cierre actualizado y Tyrone indicó en la carta de remisión para el plan que este diseño produciría la necesidad de solicitar áreas exentas adicionales. La aprobación de una modificación de la exención propuesta resultaría en la exclusión de los 135 acres de área de minería a cielo abierto y 462 acres de inclinaciones de pilas de minerales en interiores para recuperación del hábitat de la vida silvestre después del uso de la tierra para minería.

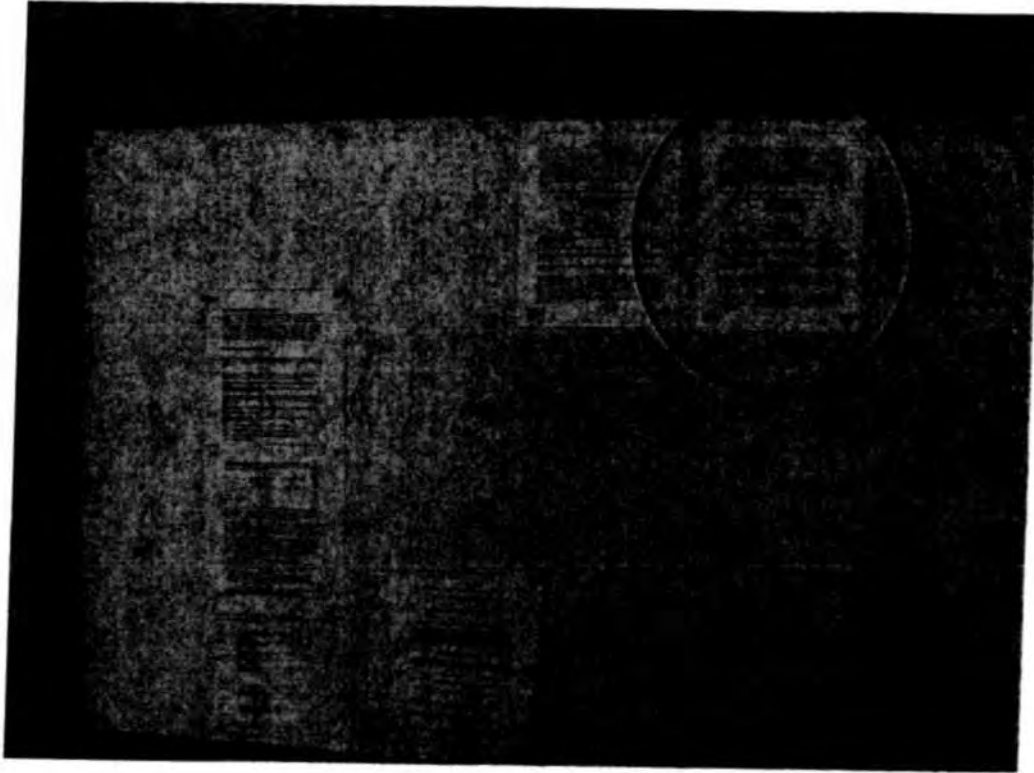

Tyrone ha participado en la recuperación de la perturbación de las minas desde 2004 y ha recuperado aproximadamente 3673 acres de terreno. Tyrone actualmente está recuperando aproximadamente 264 acres de perturbación ubicada a lo largo del perímetro sur de la mina.

Nombre y dirección para presentar por escrito comentarios, objeciones o solicitudes de audiencias públicas: Los comentarios, las objeciones, las solicitudes de audiencias públicas por escrito con respecto a la solicitud de exención de áreas adicionales dentro de la mina deberán ser presentadas a:

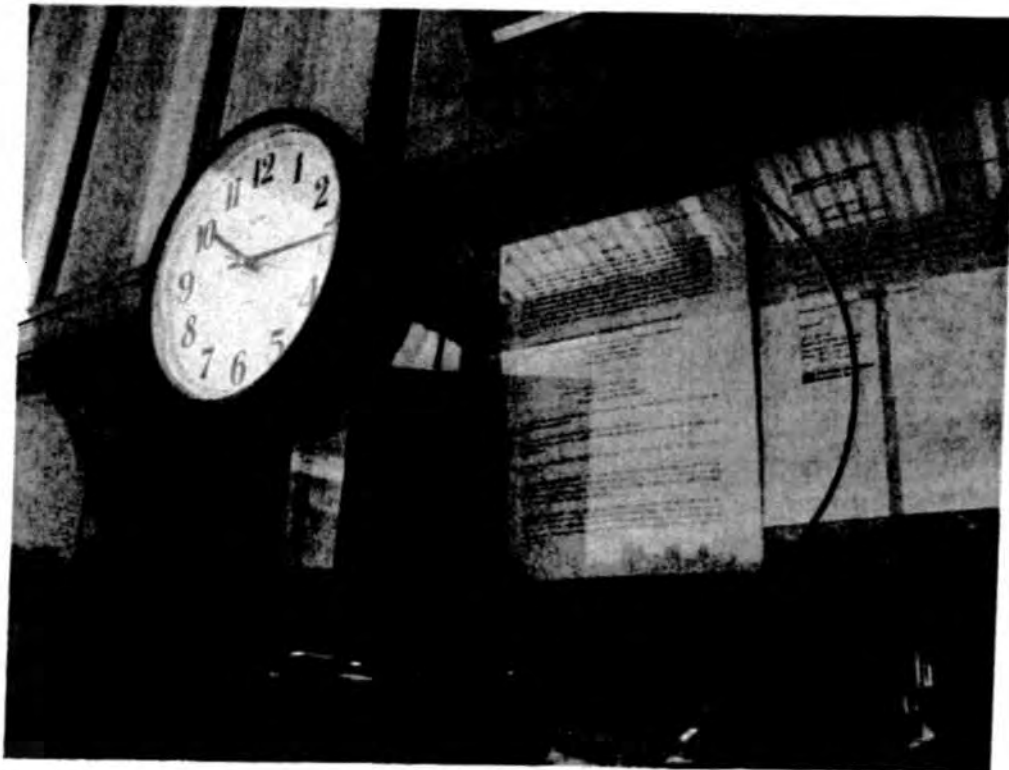

Bill Brancard, Director
División de Minería y Metales
1220 South St. Francis Drive
Santa Fe, New Mexico 87505

Una persona con un interés que está o será afectado de manera adversa por la exención complementaria propuesta puede presentar objeciones por escrito a la propuesta al Director a la dirección anterior y puede solicitar una audiencia pública. Si se realiza una audiencia pública, se proporcionará una notificación por separado de acuerdo con 19.10.12.1210 NMAC.
