I like the resident reduction in fees, but it will cause a backlog at the gates for the people who volunteer to man the booths, not to mention the users in line.

The "camping on the beach" fees may be a little extreme, since nothing but an outhouse is provided.

All of this may reduce the number of users, which may or may not affect income. Please consider the surrounding communities and their income from tourists.

I would make sure jet skis are considered in the registration process.
