I'm a California resident and I love your state parks. I have camped from Columbus to Flagstaff outside Grand Canyon to Walnut Canyon to Sedona, to Tucson to Yuma. I am 88 years old, retired, single woman and drive a 30 foot motorhome towing a Honda CRV. I usually have just one dog with me. I don't need full hookups (although they are nice to have.) if there is a dump station. Your state park fees are very low and that is one reason (besides the things to do and see in your state) I have a subscription to Arizona Highways and visit often. You could increase them by half and they would still fit in my limited budget.
